How charitable giving supports the work of the Surrey Care Trust

Charitable donations play a vital part in funding our learning centres which provide an alternative education programme - education with a difference - for young people who have struggled to fit into mainstream school.

As a supporter of the Surrey Care Trust you are a true friend to all the young people who spend a year or more at these centres when often their teachers and schools have despaired of helping them.

We don't give up on them and your kindness and concern helps to give them a second chance. In addition to our education programmes, we run a counselling service for young people needing support at critical times in their lives.

Our Swingbridge Community Boats are a colourful sight on local waterways.

Swingbridge, which relies almost entirely on charitable giving, gives people who are at a low point in their lives the opportunity to carry out conservation work on local waterways.

They learn useful skills to help them improve their chances in life, and also have the rewards of being part of a friendly team and making a significant contribution to maintaining valued public open spaces.

The boat trips we are able to offer every summer to hundreds of people who are often frail or elderly or have limited mobility are hugely valued.

Then there is our Crisis Grants hardship fund, which is how the Surrey Care Trust started 26 years ago.

The modest grants from this fund continue to help local people who find themselves so financially stretched they are unable to afford basic essentials.

Every donation helps us to make a difference to local people and regular donations mean that much more because they enable us to plan ahead with the confidence of knowing that people understand and care about the work we do.

Dear Sir / Madam
I am writing to thank you for your generous grant that has enabled me to purchase a dishwasher & microwave which have helped me to retain my independence as a disabled mother to 3 young children. Your kindness has helped enormously, with my day to day life.
Thank You!
